

I ♥ Small Charities Day Competitions – win £150 for your charity without leaving your desk

Small Charity Week launches with I ♥ Small Charities Day on Monday 19th June 2017.

This is a day to raise awareness of the work of all small charities across the UK, whether you take part in one of the competitions below or carry out your own activity.

A lot of the work you do as a small charity can go unnoticed – maybe because you are so busy doing and don't have the time to tell everybody what you're actually doing! So we're going to make it easier for you!

We are running three competitions on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram to help raise the profile of small charities with cash prizes for the winners.

Prizes

- #ILoveSmallCharities Twitter competition – winning small charity gets a £150 donation
- #ILoveSmallCharities Facebook competition – winning small charity gets a £150 donation
- #ILoveSmallCharities Instagram competition – winning small charity gets a £150 donation

How to enter:

Take a photo of yourself holding up a poster that reads:

“I love (your charities name) because (why you love them)”.

Then simply post it to either Twitter, Instagram or the Small Charity Week Facebook page, depending which competition you wish to participate in. Make sure you include the #ILoveSmallCharities hashtag when you post your photograph so we can track your entry.

For the message you hold up in our photo we've provided a printable poster template for you to download here, but you are welcome to make your own.

How you win:

The charity which manages to get the most individual messages of support on Twitter, Instagram or Facebook from June 19th-24th June will receive a donation of £150.

Therefore we encourage you to motivate your supporters to enter on your behalf. You can download templates for promotional materials to send out here.

IMPORTANT! The rules for how to enter each competition are slightly different. See below.

Rules for Entry

Entries will only count between 19th – 24th June and only one message is to be submitted for each competition per supporter; your supporters are welcome to enter all three. The message should explain why they love your small charity.

The Twitter Competition

- Your supporters must tweet their photo message on Twitter, making sure they include the @name for your small charity and the #ILoveSmallCharities hashtag. They should also tag us into the post @SCWeek2017
- If you haven't got a camera you can simply tweet your message of love in less than 140 characters making sure you include the @name for your small charity and the #ILoveSmallCharities hashtag

The Facebook Competition

- Post your photo message to the Small Charity Week Facebook wall, making sure you include the name of your small charity and the #ILoveSmallCharities hashtag
- If you haven't got a camera you can simply post your message of love to our wall making sure you include the @name for your small charity and the #ILoveSmallCharities hashtag

The Instagram Competition

- Your supporters will need to upload a photo onto Instagram, making sure they include the @name of your small charity and the #ILoveSmallCharities hashtag. They should also tag us into the post @SCWeek2017

In previous years the secret to winning this competition has been to start early! Even though the competitions officially open on June 19th it is a good idea to start building your support right now.

Some top tips on winning the competition (from a previous winner!)

1. Make sure you have a strategy on how to reach the most supporters
2. Prioritise communications around the competition during the run up to and during Small Charity Week
3. Keep the team (staff and volunteers) informed and motivated by keeping them up to date on progress and the number of posts. Also explain that it isn't just about the prize – the potential to raise awareness can be huge
4. Let your supporters know that this is a really easy but effective way to support you. Then support them in any way by giving them ideas, templates etc.
